Beak n Wings, Inc to Feature “The Bird Whisperer”

World Renowned Bird Tamer to Lead Workshops March 18-19, 2006
at the KCI-Expo Ctr. In Kansas City, Mo

Bird lovers will have a special place at the upcoming workshops. World renowned avian specialist Ken Globus, known as The Bird Whisperer, will headline the Workshop, leading demonstrations and teaching workshops on taming and handling birds throughout the weekend. The workshop takes place at the KCI-Expo Ctr., 11730 N. Ambassador Drive, Kansas City, Mo 64153.

Globus has been taming birds for more than twenty years. From handling literally thousands of birds, many of them branded “un-handleable” and extremely aggressive, Globus developed the kind of hands on taming techniques that enable him to do what few others have done: calm down even the wildest birds in a minimum of time. Globus has appeared on “Inside Edition” and has been featured on several network news programs.

Globus will lead a demonstration at 10 AM on both Saturday and Sunday, workshops each day from 1 PM to 5 PM. Globus will lead a special Bird Taming Workshop, where you can participate as an observer or sign up for help with your difficult bird. There is no better way to learn Ken’s one-of-a-kind and hands-on approach to taming wild, frightened and aggressive birds in a dynamic, comprehensive, four-hour group session.

The four hour workshop highlights:

- Taming/handling techniques
- Issues of fear (the bird’s and yours)
- Aggression and socialization
- Teach your bird to stop biting, to do step-ups and more!

“With patient, persistent assertion and logical, progressive techniques virtually any bird can be tamed,” - Ken Globus

Each four hour workshop is priced at $100.00 with a bird, $50.00 without a bird, $75.00 with a Cockatiel or Budgie.
